GOMEZ LIVING LIKE A KING. A Hayana letter to the Philadelphia North American says :

In the hotels and cafes, along the highways and among all classes of the people here, the regal state in which Gen. Gomez has been living since he came in from the jungles is the subject of much unfavorable comment. Gomez is housed at the Quinta de los Molinos, and has at his immediate command a retinue of more than 150 men. His daily expenses amount to nearly $200.

Here are more men attending to the wants of the great liberator in peace than he had for most of the time under his immediate command in the old war days, and the cost per day of maintaining this princely household amounts to as much as would safely have tided over for a month a Cuban-rebellion in the less prosperour days. Small wonder that the natives are talking. Not that Comez isn't entitled to the best that is in Cubs, but the quick swap from a sweet potato under neath a palm, a bottle of water, a ham-mock and 100 fighting men, to a palace, 150 servante, and the life of a Spanish captain general, is as severe a shock to the Cubans as some think it must be to the stomach of the rough seldier of ortune from San Domingo. In the meantime thousands of the

Cubans haven't even the sweet potato underneath the palm, the hammork and the bottle of water; and there is a feeling that in view of this state of affairs Gomez should muster out a few of his servants, bodyguards, fly chasers,

A policeman came along and acting under orders made two attempts to clear the sidewalk. A negro captain refused to bey the policeman and struck him, whereupon the latter clubbed the negro. The crowd then attacked the policeman, who was disarmed and badiy in-

Last night a fierce fight took place at Caro. Many persons on both sides have been wounded. During the dem onstration in favor of Ganeral Gomez two men displayed a Spanish flag. Two American soldiers attacked the Spanards with their fists and knocked them out, and the same fate befall a third Spaniard, who attempted to assist his countrymen. This put an end to the

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influence. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases, over a large part of the civilized world The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of it good works; of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. For sale by J. H. Janney, Druggist, 701 King St
